Dr. Kevin R. Haddle is dual board-certified for both the American Board of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and the American Board of Cosmetic Surgery. After finishing his fellowship in Columbus, Ohio in July 2003, he started work as an associate surgeon in the Chicagoland area. He then decided to purchase a solo practice in Geneva, Illinois where he practices full-scope maxillofacial and facial aesthetic surgery.

Dr. Kevin R. Haddle is an Indianapolis native. He completed an Associates Degree in Science at Vincennes University, Vincennes, Indiana in 1988 with Magna Cum Laude and finished his Bachelor Degree of Arts in Biology at DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana in 1990. Subsequently, he started graduate school at IUPUI, Indianapolis, Indiana simultaneously doing research in molecular biology in the department of Neuropathology working on molecular degenerative pathways in Alzheimer's disease and the sequencing genes at the Indiana University Medical Center, Indianapolis, Indiana 1990-1992. While working in research, he met his mentor who had a dental degree in conjunction with her PhD. Both came to the conclusion that a career in Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery with the plan to pursue a fellowship in Facial Aesthetic Surgery was the best plan for his future.

He earned his dental degree at Indiana University School of Dentistry where he was consistently on the dean's list each year and obtained numerous awards and honors including the American Academy of Dental Research Fellowship, the Highest Academic Achievement Award from Delta Sigma Delta, the Harvey G. Levinson Scholarship Memorial Award, the American Association of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeon's Dental Student Award, and induction into Omicron Kappa Upsilon National Honorary Society.

Following dental school, Dr. Kevin R. Haddle followed his dream and was accepted to the Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery Program at Louisiana State University, New Orleans, Louisiana in 1996. While there, he obtained his Medical Degree at Louisiana State University School of Medicine in 1999. While in residency, he was involved in research projects and wrote a chapter in the OMS Knowledge Update on Arthrocentesis. He completed his general surgery year at Charity Hospital in 2000. He had rotations with Dr. Myron Tucker in Charlotte, North Carolina and Dr. Eric Dierks in Portland, Oregon in Orthognathic Surgery and Facial Pathology and Aesthetic/Reconstructive Surgery. During his chief year he passed the American Dental Society of Anesthesia Fellowship exam in Richmond, Virginia in 2002.

In 2002, the final leg of his journey, he was accepted to one of the top fellowships in Facial Aesthetic Surgery through the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery. His mentor was T. W. Evans DDS, MD, FACS an internationally renowned speaker of Facial Aesthetic Surgery. During his fellowship, he spent time with Dominic Brandy of the Enhanced Images Institute, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania learning the art and science of hair transplantation. In the fall of his fellowship he was given the distinctive honor to lecture at the 28th Annual Louisiana State University Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Review Course in the basic principles of blepharoplasty and otoplasty. Also, he completed a research project on the recovery of the sensory nerve of the cheek following cheek implantation.

Dr. Kevin R. Haddle is practicing full-scoped Oral & Maxillofacial/Aesthetic Facial Surgery in his private practice with emphasis on maxillofacial and facial aesthetic surgery, orthognathic surgery, implant surgery, trauma surgery, reconstructive surgery and skin care. In the fall of 2008, Dr. Haddle completed his goal of creating an operatory room to maximize his scope of practice and procedures in the office. He maintains staff appointments at Delnor-Community Hospital and Valley Ambulatory Surgery Center.

He has obtained a medical license in Louisiana, Ohio and Illinois and a dental license in Indiana and Illinois. He belongs to numerous organizations including the American Dental Association, the American Medical Association, the American Association of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons, the American Dental Society of Anesthesia, the National Dental Board of Anesthesiology, and the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery. He is currently dual board-certified in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery and Facial Cosmetic Surgery and Fellow of the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery.

Dr. Kevin R. Haddle enjoys working out, running regularly, and training others. He has an interest in small aircrafts. He loves to work with his hands and pursue home renovations and landscaping. During his spare time he likes to travel, read and attend continuing education courses.
